KISS to play one last festival in Spain at ROCK FEST BARCELONA 2020

12 November 2019

The big concert of KISS, one of the most iconic and influential bands in rock history, will be one of the main events at the next edition of Rock Fest Barcelona. It is the last festival show ever in Spain for the band led by Gene Simmons and Paul Stanley. An occasion to bring their biggest and most spectacular show ever in Spain for a night that will go down in history. And they won't be alone: Saturday 4th of July 2020 will be the day when Judas Priest will celebrate their 50th anniversary. UFO will play their last ever Spanish show and Accept will play their exclusive show in Spain. A night full of legends.

KISS changed the face of rock and roll when they appeared on the scene in 1973. From their first record and tour in 1974, the band reformulated the standard of what a rock show was meant to be: fire, hydraulic platforms, confetti storms, choreographies and spectacular make-up and costumes made KISS a legend by their own right. All time hits such as "Detroit Rock City", "I Was Made For Lovin' You" and the ever necessary "Rock and Roll All Nite" made their career a success and at Rock Fest Barcelona we will be able to live this experience for the last time in a festival setting.

European hard rock fans will have the chance to see Switzerland's beloved Gotthard at the festival. Gotthard will play a show full of class and great chorus and melodies.
